Litigation + Business

We design successful strategies, analyzing every angle of the issues for the best solution. Our attorneys help you quickly and efficiently, whether in court, in business negotiations, or dealing with regulation. You define the objective; we analyze the options, define the costs and risks, and work for you toward the best path forward.

At Robinson Gray, attorneys with years of experience work hand-in-hand with the brightest young minds in the legal profession, combining wisdom with fresh, unconventional thinking to provide powerful solutions for you.

We serve clients from multi-national corporations to small businesses, delivering respectful service, regardless of client size.

We tailor our approach to litigation and business – whether maximizing recovery, minimizing damage and legal fees, or protecting business practices. You define the objective; we analyze the options, consider the costs and risks, and recommend approaches so you can choose among the alternatives.

For business matters, our attorneys have the depth of experience needed to assist you with organization planning and formation through the various stages of your business growth. We help you minimize the risks, avoid litigation, and maximize the benefits associated with your transaction.

Robinson Gray is a member of Meritas, a global alliance of over 7,000+ lawyers serving in 173 full-service law firms across more than 80 countries. Clients who engage a Meritas firm can be confident they will receive high quality legal work from firms that are deeply rooted in their local communities.

 MERITAS® LAW FIRMS WORLDWIDE

Noteworthy recognition.

Respected by our peers, the community and our clients, our attorneys have earned national recognition for excellence, leadership and achievement. We're proud of our talented attorneys and their achievements. Evidently, others agree. We've been consistently recognized by our peers in national and regional publications including Chambers & Partners USA, The Best Lawyers in America, South Carolina Super Lawyers® and Benchmark Litigation.

Known for strong leadership in the legal community, our attorneys believe in setting an example of service to their profession. That is why they participate in national networks and statewide boards and have served as president of both our state and county bar associations.

Good citizens.

We enjoy our role as involved corporate citizens and look for opportunities to give back to our community. Our attorneys also play a major role in nonprofit organizations, volunteering their time and talents to make a positive difference in the lives of others.

Some examples include serving in leadership positions on state and local community boards, chairing fundraising events for local nonprofits, and working to improve the quality of education in our state.

Robinson Gray is also an official Columbia Green Business recognized for its role in adopting green business practices and encouraging other businesses to do the same.
